

Sample Course Description

Faculty of Foreign Language

Study program: English Language (Bachelor)

Course Title: Comparative Literature

Course Credits: 4 ECTS

Language of Instruction: Albanian

Course Description: The course "Comparative Literature" will cover some theoretical and historical aspects related to this field of study. The focus will be on issues of theory, methodology of comparative research, as well as on the place that Albanian literature occupies in the international context. The course aims to provide a wide and in-depth knowledge of the contribution of Albanian tradition in the field of comparative literature.

Course Goals:

This approach, along with the special attention paid to the methodology of comparative studies and the update on the current debate regarding the profile of this discipline, helps to consolidate the theoretical and practical education of the student.

It is important for students who study English, which is one of the most widely spoken languages in the world, to be familiar with the comparative literature point of view.

This approach benefits the students of this study program, as it not only helps them to deepen their practical knowledge related to English language and literature teaching, but also guides them in the translation of such literature.

Course Requirements: During this course, students must attend and actively participate in the seminar sessions (20 points), take a partial exam (20 points) and write a coursework assignment (20 points).

Grading: Written Exam 40%, Coursework 60%.

Course Schedule: A 75% course attendance is compulsory. Classes will take place according to a fixed schedule.

Dr. Gëzim Puka
Literature Department